Darwin's Theory of Evolution Refuted

Strong Islamic, Scientific, Social, and Rational Evidence

BY SUFI WASEEM ULLAH

Table Of Contents

Sufi Waseem Ullah's Strong Islamic, Scientific, Social, and Rational Evidence..... 2
Basic Preface..... 2
Darwin's Claim: That Humans Came from an Animal or Ape..... 2
Darwin's Claim: Humans and Apes Have a Common Ancestor..... 3
If Evolution Were True, It Would Still Be Ongoing Today..... 3
The False Claims About the Speed of Evolution..... 4
Principle of Biology and Inheritance..... 4
Scientific Arguments Against Evolution..... 5
Archaeology and the Fossil Record..... 5
(b) Genetics..... 5
(c) Biology..... 5
Islamic Arguments Against Evolution..... 6
The Qur'an's Declaration..... 6
The Creation of Adam (peace be upon him)..... 6
But Then Why is There Similarity Between Humans and Some Animals?..... 7
Rational Argument..... 7
1. Organized Reproductive System..... 7
2. Humanity's Voluntary Moral System..... 8
3. The Contradiction Between Death and Evolution..... 8
4. Evolution vs. Human Nature as a Complete System..... 8
5. Evolution and Human Language..... 8
6. Evolution and the Soul..... 8
7. The Argument of Human Conscience..... 9
8. The Argument of Human Creativity..... 9
9. Evolution and Religions..... 9
10. Human Awareness of Time..... 9
11. Evolution and the Concept of Justice..... 10
12. Qur'anic Evidence: Allah Created Mankind Balanced..... 10
13. Humanity's Universal Knowledge..... 10
14. Human Sense of Beauty..... 10
15. Human Transmission of Skills..... 10
16. Diversity of Human Languages..... 11
17. Continuity of Human History..... 11
18. Human Dreams..... 11
19. Human Morality and Modesty..... 11
20. Continuity of Prophets in Human History..... 11

21. The Ability of the Human Hand..... 11
22. Human Awareness of the Unseen..... 12
23. Human Literature and Storytelling..... 12
24. Human Mathematics..... 12
25. Human Justice and Courts.....12
26. Human Sense of Humor..... 12

Darwin’s Theory of Evolution Refuted

Sufi Waseem Ullah’s Strong Islamic, Scientific, Social, and Rational Evidence

---

Basic Preface

Charles Darwin, in his book Origin of Species (1859), presented the theory that all living beings evolved from a single basic cell or ancestor through gradual evolutionary stages, transforming into different forms.

He also claimed that humans are descendants of animals, particularly of ape-like ancestors.

But in reality, this theory does not stand the test of observation, science, or common sense.

The evidence from the Qur’an, Sunnah, and science clearly refute it.

Some of these arguments are as follows 👇

Darwin’s Claim: That Humans Came from an Animal or Ape

- According to this theory, if humans evolved from apes, fish, primates, or any other animal, then why is this evolutionary process not still ongoing?
- By now, thousands of apes should be transforming into humans every year, or at least we should frequently witness or hear of such transformations.
- But was this transformation meant for just one time or for some specific beings only?
- Why did apes stop becoming humans afterwards?
- In fact, this transformation should have accelerated, and more apes should have been turning into humans, since just as humans have progressed, apes have also become more intelligent now.
- And now they are even closer and more accustomed to humans, so their evolutionary process should have become more advanced and easier, leading to their transformation into humans.

- Yet, why have modern scientific laboratories and experiments failed to bring about such a transformation?

Darwin's Claim: Humans and Apes Have a Common Ancestor

Darwin claimed that humans and apes are the offspring of the same parents (a common ancestor).

That is, millions of years ago there was a single "cousin-type" species, from which some evolved into humans while others remained as apes.

- If this were true, then even today, from the same parents, sometimes a human child would be born and sometimes an animal.

- But in thousands of years of human history, it has never been observed that both forms were born from the same lineage.

- Until today, humans always give birth to humans, and apes always to apes.

- If this were purely an evolutionary process, then once it happened in the past, it should have happened again.

- This continuity itself is absolute proof of Darwin's falsehood.

If Evolution Were True, It Would Still Be Ongoing Today

- According to Darwin, evolution is a continuous and unending process.

- If humans came from apes, then even today millions of apes should be evolving into humans.

- But this has never happened. All the apes across the world remain apes and always have remained apes.

- Even today, their lifestyle, diet, and habits are the same as they were thousands of years ago.

The False Claims About the Speed of Evolution

Darwin’s followers excuse themselves by saying that evolution requires millions of years.

- But the question is: if apes once evolved into humans, then those “better-brained” apes should be evolving into humans much faster today.
- Because with the passage of time, the speed of evolution should have accelerated instead of halted.
- But the reality is the opposite.
- Furthermore, if this process really takes millions of years, then today’s animals have also been around for millions of years, and countless of them should have already completed the required time.
- Every day, some of them should be completing that time, but it is not happening — and this proves the falsity of the claim.

Principle of Biology and Inheritance

The principle of Genetics is that every creature reproduces only its own species.

Humans always give birth to humans, and apes always give birth to apes.

This natural and undeniable law cuts the very root of Darwin’s theory.

Scientific Arguments Against Evolution

Archaeology and the Fossil Record

- In excavated fossils worldwide, no “half-human, half-ape” specimen has ever been found.
- The remains discovered are either complete humans or complete animals; no transitional creature exists.
- This directly refutes Darwin’s theory.
- In the fossil record discovered from the earth, no clear “link” between apes and humans has ever been found.
- The few bones that were presented as evidence mostly turned out to be fraudulent, such as the Piltdown Man (presented in 1912, later proven to be a hoax).

(b) Genetics

- Scientific research on DNA shows that every creature remains within its own kind.
- Human DNA is unique, and ape DNA is unique.
- The small percentage of similarity does not prove that one evolved from the other, but rather it points to the wisdom of their Common Creator (Allah).

(c) Biology

- Modern genetics, DNA, and biological research have made it clear that every species has its own fixed genetic boundaries.
- No species can transform into another species.

- The few observations of evolution are only within the same species, involving “micro-evolution,” such as slight changes in color or physical traits.
- But there is no evidence of one species becoming another species.
- Until today, no laboratory has been able to demonstrate that one species can completely transform into another species.
- Only small variations within a species are possible, but a complete change from one species to another has never been observed.

Islamic Arguments Against Evolution

The Qur’an’s Declaration

> “We created man in the best of forms.” (At-Tin: 4)

This shows that man is a direct creation of Allah, not evolved from an animal.

Man is not an advanced form of an animal but a special creation of Allah.

Some disobedient nations were transformed into apes (Al-Baqarah: 65), but this was a punishment, not evolution.

The Creation of Adam (peace be upon him)

> The Qur’an says: “He created him (Adam) from dust.” (Aal-e-Imran: 59)

This is direct creation, not evolution.

Man has been called the “best of creation” (Ashraf-ul-Makhluqat).

If man had evolved from an animal, then calling him “the best of creation” would have had no meaning.

But Then Why is There Similarity Between Humans and Some Animals?

Humans did not come from apes; rather, apes, pigs, bears, etc., came from humans — when Allah sent punishment upon disobedient nations and distorted their forms.

> “So We said to them: Be apes, despised.” (Al-Baqarah 65, Al-A’raf 166)

> “Say, shall I inform you of those worse in position with Allah: those whom Allah has cursed, upon whom His wrath has descended, and of whom He made some into apes and swine...” (Al-Maidah: 60)

Rational Argument

If the ape were truly the ancestor of man, then the process of evolution should still be ongoing today.

But if apes are in fact transformed (mutated) humans, then the absence of continuity is completely natural, because they were the result of a concluded divine punishment, not an ongoing chain of creation.

---

1. Organized Reproductive System

“And of everything We created pairs, so that you may take heed.” (Adh-Dhariyat: 49)
Allah created everything in pairs and kept every species unique. If evolution were true, diversity would have vanished, and all creatures would have merged into one continuous form. But the reality is that for millions of years, every species has remained distinct in its identity.

---

2. Humanity’s Voluntary Moral System

Human consciousness is not merely for survival like that of animals, but for morality, justice, love, sacrifice, and worship.

If humans were a product of evolution, their purpose would also have been only survival and power (like animals).
But man's nature inclines towards moral and divine values, proving that he is the direct creation of a Moral Creator, not blind evolution.

---

3. The Contradiction Between Death and Evolution

Evolution claims that every organism survives in order to become better in a new form.
But the undeniable reality of human life is "death," which cuts short every form of supposed evolution.
"Every soul shall taste death." (Al-Ankabut: 57)
If evolution were true, this natural system would not have been based on the absolute certainty of death.

---

4. Evolution vs. Human Nature as a Complete System

DNA, the brain, spiritual senses, language, and creativity are all based on systematic planning.
Accidents never produce systems.
For example, no matter how many times stones break, they will never form pens, books, or computers by themselves — they only come into existence through intentional creation.
Likewise, blind change can never produce an "organized human being."

---

5. Evolution and Human Language

Darwin claimed that man came from apes.
But every language in the world has its own grammar, structure, and complex system, which humans speak fluently from the start.
Language is never the result of evolution, but direct inspiration (revelation):
"And He taught Adam the names of all things." (Al-Baqarah: 31)

---

6. Evolution and the Soul

Evolution only talks about the body, but the Qur'an says:
"And I breathed into him from My Spirit." (Al-Hijr: 29)
The soul cannot come from any biological formula of evolution; it is direct Divine creation.

Modern science can only study bodies, not souls. The soul is only possible through Divine revelation and is a gift, not a result of evolution.

---

7. The Argument of Human Conscience

Within man there is an “inner judge” that grants peace on goodness and reproaches on evil.
“And no! I swear by the reproaching soul.” (Al-Qiyamah: 2)
If man were the result of evolution, then conscience would be meaningless, since animals have no such internal sense.
Conscience is evidence that man is a direct Divine creation.

---

8. The Argument of Human Creativity

Animals naturally perform limited functions (a sparrow’s nest is always the same), but humans are constantly engaged in new creations: art, literature, technology, science, and architecture.
Evolution is blind change, not creative innovation.
Man’s artistic imagination testifies to his connection with the Divine attribute of creation.

---

9. Evolution and Religions

In every nation of the world, the concepts of worship, prayer, sacrifice, and deity exist.
If evolution were true, religion would never have come into existence, since animals have no consciousness of organized worship.
The universal existence of religion proves that man was created for revelation and guidance, not for animalistic evolution.

---

10. Human Awareness of Time

Animals live only in the present; they have no perception of the past or future.
But humans study past history, understand the present, and plan for the future. They have the ability to compress much into little time.
This cosmic awareness of time cannot come from evolution; it is knowledge granted by Allah.

---

11. Evolution and the Concept of Justice

If man were the result of evolution, then the strong would always dominate and the weak would always perish (survival of the fittest).
But humans naturally establish principles of justice, equality, and mercy for the weak.
These are qualities endowed by God, not instincts of evolution.

---

12. Qur'anic Evidence: Allah Created Mankind Balanced

"Who created you, proportioned you, and balanced you. In whatever form He willed, He assembled you." (Al-Infitar: 7–8)
Man's life is totally balanced in all manners, but no other animal is like this.
This Qur'anic testimony proves that man is a distinct creation, not an evolutionary extension of animals.

---

13. Humanity's Universal Knowledge

Man has studied the seas, stars, universe, atoms, leaves, and horizons.
No animal acquires knowledge beyond its own species.
This universal knowledge does not come from evolution, but is proven by the Qur'an:
"And He taught Adam the names of all things." (Al-Baqarah: 31)

---

14. Human Sense of Beauty

Man recognizes beauty and creates art, music, poetry, and fine arts.
If he had merely come through evolution, his priority would only have been survival and food, not an appreciation of beauty.

---

15. Human Transmission of Skills

Humans transmit their skills, knowledge, and experiences to the next generation (through books, education, and teachers).
Animals have existed for millions of years, yet they still repeat the same actions (a bee's hive, a spider's web).
This difference proves that man is the direct creation of the "Teacher of the Universe."

---

16. Diversity of Human Languages

There are thousands of languages in the world, each with a complex system and grammar.
If evolution were true, then all would have had only one limited system of animal-like sounds.
The diversity of languages is proof of divinely inspired teaching.

---

17. Continuity of Human History

In thousands of years of human civilization, man has always remained “human,” and his actions and behaviors have remained human-like.
There has never been an era when “half-human, half-animal” beings existed, or some displayed animal-like traits while others were fully human.

---

18. Human Dreams

Man dreams, in which there are metaphysical signs, inspirations, and glimpses of the future.
This is not from evolution but connected to the realm of the soul.

---

19. Human Morality and Modesty

In human societies, clothing and modesty are natural.
If evolution were true, nakedness would have remained the natural state, as it is in animals.

---

20. Continuity of Prophets in Human History

In every era, Allah sent prophets for the education and guidance of mankind.
If man had come from animals, then revelation or divine education would have also been sent to other animals or intermediate species, but this never happened.

---

21. The Ability of the Human Hand

The human hand is not only for grasping but also for creation (writing, painting, architecture).
This is not “mere survival,” but evidence of a “higher purpose.”

22. Human Awareness of the Unseen

Man possesses awareness of the unseen and perception of metaphysical signs.
This is not possible through the limited animalistic mind of evolution.

---

23. Human Literature and Storytelling

Man creates tales, stories, epics, and literature.
This imagination does not arise from the “purposeless randomness” of evolution but from the power bestowed by the Creator.

---

24. Human Mathematics

Mathematics is universal knowledge of the human mind.
Animals can never comprehend “1+1=2.”
This is the blessing of revelation and divine knowledge. Animals never build schools, hospitals, roads, or vehicles for their kind, because this awareness is a gift from the Creator exclusively to mankind.

---

25. Human Justice and Courts

Humans established judicial systems, made laws, and created systems of reward and punishment.
If evolution were true, only the law of the strong would prevail; justice would never exist.

---

26. Human Sense of Humor

Humans understand jokes and humor.
This is a purely spiritual and intellectual quality, which has no concept in animals.